Senior Mobility in the 21st Century- What Can We Do to Prepare?

A conference designed to help local governments and community-based organizations respond to the transportation challenges related to an aging population.

Conference Topics

- Transportation Planning/Design & Project Development
- Senior-Friendly Development Planning
- Alternative Transportation Modes
- Older Driver Issues & Programs

Goals

- Highlight the state-of-the-art research, policies, and programs addressing aging and mobility issues.
- Involve municipalities, state, and national governmental agencies, and community-based institutions to share best practices and formulate strategies that promote safety and improved mobility options.
- Develop a national legislative agenda on aging and mobility issues for the Reauthorization of the Transportation Equity Act of the 21st Century (TEA-21).
